

Weekly News

Week of: March 22, 2010

Dear Parents,

Due to achievement tests, this next week will be different when it comes to our everyday activities and instruction. I am going to stress to the class to slow down and take their time on the tests. My plan for next week is to use the time not during achievement tests to stress on some review in their writing skills and math. I am also going to continue with science. Other than Science, there will not be much homework.

Please make sure that your child gets a good night's sleep, eats a healthy breakfast before coming to school, and is on time every day next week. This will help them be alert and ready for their achievement tests.

If you have any questions or concerns please let me know.

Blessings,

Miss Grace

Notes and Reminders

- If you signed up for our auction basket, please make sure that the items are brought to school on later than March 29th.
- LAST CHANCE to go to the A's game with us. Please let me know by Monday if you want to go. I will be getting tickets next week! There is no limit to the number of adults who would like to go.

Upcoming Events

- March 22rd -25th are achievement tests!
- Friday is an accreditation day. School is dismissed at 11:30.
- April 23-Field Trip to Youth Symphony in San Francisco. I have room for 9 parents. Cost is $5 plus BART ($9.10).
- April 24th- Auction
- May 5- Field Trip to A's game.

Spelling Words

Take the Week OFF for spelling and memory!!

