

Weekly News

Week of: November 21, 2011

Dear Parents,

I wish you all a very blessed Thanksgiving Vacation! I know your children are all excited about having a week off of school...I am too! ☺ There is no official homework over break. However, please continue to work with your child on the Christmas songs (particularly "Love Letters of Christmas"), have them read to you, and ask them simple math problems on occasion. This will help keep their minds sharp and to be ready when we come back to school. I will be checking my email over break if you need to reach me for anything.

Blessings and Happy Thanksgiving!
~Miss Grace

Notes and Reminders

STAR OF THE WEEK

This week's star is Miss Maile Kim!!

- Please make sure your child is not bringing "toys" to school. There have been more and more items being brought that I end up taking away during the school day.
- Just another reminder as we move further along in Language and Reading, we will be having more decodable books. The students are reading them out loud as a class, to each other, and to me. Please keep these books and encourage your child to keep reading them. They focus on the letter sound we are working on.

Upcoming Events

- November 21-25: No School
- November 24th: Thanksgiving Church Service at 10:00
- November 28: School Resumes
- November 29: Dine For Dollars at Chuck E. Cheese in Hayward
- November 30: Soup Supper 5:45 and Advent Church Service at 7:00.
- December 1st: Fall Picture Make-Up Day
- December 21st: Christmas Program